Summer camp offers a variety of activities for children and teenagers in the United States. The traditional image of summer camp is associated with hiking and campfires, but there are camps for drama, computers, and even weight loss. The first summer camp was founded in 1861 by Frederick and Abigail Gunn when they took the boys of their school on a two-week hiking trip. For the next twelve years, they continued to operate the Gunnery Camp (岡恩夏令營).

In most camps, there are counselors who guide the young campers during activities and ensure the safety of the campers. Most counselors are in their late teens or early twenties, as it is an ideal job for high school or college students on summer break.
