Doris lost her ring and felt so bad that she couldn't sleep well. Suddenly, she found something surprising that the black horse in the picture was moving. She came closer to check and touched the horse; then, she was pulled into the picture! Now Doris was sitting on the back of the running horse. After a while, the horse stopped in front of a church where Doris found a bag. She opened the bag and saw her ring inside. When she happily put on the ring, she woke up, and she couldn't believe that the ring was back on her finger!
