A new hot spring area located within the Cingshuei Geothermal Park in Yilan will open to the public on Dec. 8. During the first week of operation, it will open to 120 people per day to bathe for free. Thereafter, one adult ticket for the hot spring baths will cost NT$80, but, excepting parking fees, it is free for visitors entering into the park.

Cingshuei Geothermal Park is a natural alkaline hot spring area. Yilan County Government constructed a new hot spring area, consisting of a scenic entrance area, customer service area and eight hot spring pools. Each pool accommodates up to 100 bathers.
