The Nobel Peace Center is located in an old train station building in Norway and overlooking the harbor. It was officially opened on June 11, 2005, as part of the celebrations to mark Norway's centenary as an independent country. It is a center where you can learn the events about the various Nobel Peace Prize Laureates as well as the remarkable history of Alfred Nobel, the founder of the Nobel Prize. In addition, it serves as a meeting place where exhibits, discussions, and reflections related to war, peace, and conflict resolution are in focus. The Center combines exhibits and films with digital communication and interactive installations. Visitors are welcome to experience on their own or join a guided tour. Since its opening, the Nobel Peace Center has been educating and inspiring its visitors through exhibitions, activities, lectures, and cultural events.
