One day, I wanted to see my friend in the prison and concerned how he had been recently. But I found that he was forbidden to see visitors. The guard told me that only after one month, my friend would be allowed to see his family and friends. Therefore, I saw him after a month passed. He told me a quite poor story. He said during his sentence, he had worked in the prison to earn some money. The money they had given was pitifully few. Those were all his savings and he stashed in a secret place. Someday, he found that the money was gone.
