Despite with my friend's father had expressed his strong anger to my friend, I still proceeded to tell the whole family how my friend really missed his mom. However, his father was as stern as he had behaved since I had entered this house. He even hinted me that I'd better be on my way out. It's a good thing that I wore my air force uniform. Besides, when I introduced myself, I mentioned that I was graduated from National Taiwan University. Otherwise, I think I would have been kicked out by his father long before. As for his mother, she never spoke a word from beginning to end.
