1100531 高中職生 中翻英短文翻譯 參考答案

In the past, I had always claimed that I had served poor people. But actually, I always chose to help something which made me cheerful. When I served in the prisons, I would make friends with some educated young people. I had no courage to make friends with prisoners on death row. The reason was that I was very afraid of accompanying them to face death. At that time, I considered that it's the most miserable thing in one's whole life.
