What I didn't understand was why they were treating me so well, and why they wouldn't let us leave our rooms. Someday, I felt I had enough energy and then I snuck out into the hallway. At that moment, the security guard wasn't looking, so I could see the yard outside. However, not for long, I got caught right away by the guard. Another thing I didn't understand was why they all wore masks and gloves and never spoke to me. But actually, as a beggar child, I wasn't in the habit of asking questions.
