The European Commission(歐盟委員會) president has criticized the UK's Brexit negotiations(脫歐談判), saying none of the papers provided so far are satisfactory. Jean-Claude Juncker reiterated that there would be no trade negotiations between the EU and UK until the divorce bill(脫離法案) was settled. The prime minister's spokeswoman said the UK was in a good position. But EU chief negotiator Michel Barnier said Brexit secretary David Davis had to start negotiating seriously. The EU has previously said that it will not discuss trade issues with the UK until it has resolved three issues.
