Monica used to think the thin old man who lives next to her must be very poor and lonely. She often saw him wear old clothes and sit in the park by himself.

Last Christmas, when Monica was jogging in the park, the old man came up to her with a large bag on his shoulder. Monica guessed the old man would ask her for some money or help. But she was surprised to find many children following him. The old man took out a box from his bag and said to her with a big smile, "Merry Christmas! I bought presents for everybody. This one is for you." At that moment, Monica understood her mistake and changed her idea about the old man. Since then, she has tried not to judge people by how they look.
