When facing the same thing, you can be angry, you can also have fun, and maybe there will be unexpected gains. How you look at one thing will make your life very different. Even if you run into frustration, even if you fall into the abyss of despair, even if your wife is a tigress, or even if your husband is not promising, seeing things differently and having fun, your behavior and reaction will change, and the situation will also change. Whether life is boring or interesting, the key doesn't rely on the reality but the thought.
