Many people now are taking workcations. The word is from “work” and “vacation.” It is when you take a vacation and do some work for your company/office at the same time. You can work when you want to. For example, you can check your e-mails at the beach, or you can just sit and enjoy the sea view.

Workcations help people. When people are not in the office, their minds are clear. So, it's easy for them to think and have new ideas. People can work and have fun at the same time on workcations. They don't get bored. Also, they have more energy to do things.
